SUPREME COURT. IN CRIMINAL SESSIONS. (Before Sir G. Phillippo, Chief Justice.)

Wodnesday, July 19. BE BANDMANN O. FRAHER-BMITH LIBEL CASE This case was resumed this morning when Mr Francis and Mr Mackean appeared for the prosecutor. The defendant conducted his own case. W. P. Moore, examined by Mr Fraser-Smith :- I am a hair-dresser in the Hong kong Hotel buildings. I know Mr Danie Edward Bandmann. At one time he was a client of mine. I remember the performance of "Narcisse" by the Bandmann Company at the City Hall. A day or two after that I had some conversation with Mr Bandmann in my shop. Mr Band mann said he had turned a reporter of the Telegraph off the stage, that he had kicked him off. I cannot recollect whether he made any remarks as to you. I can't recollect exactly the whole of the conversation. I remember seeing you outside the theatre the night they played "Romeo and Juliet;" I there spoke to you about Mr Bandmann kicking this reporter off I subscribe for the Telegraph and advertise

I was frightened when Mr Bandmann swore at me; it was the first time I had been sworn at. I recollect a reheareal of Don Cæsar de Bazan. It was down on the bills that I was to sing a song at the previous rehearsal. I was very sick, and Mr Bandmann, at the rehearsal, Bandmann followed me, and said if I did death had been caused through injuries renot go back to the rehearsal he would drag me. I was rather afraid and I went back. ceived during a fight carried on by some The same morning Mr Bandmann swore at Miss Raymond and she left the stage crying. The name of the stage manager was M Nunn. At the time when Mr Bandmann lifted his hand to strike Miss Raymond Mr Nunn stepped between them, and told Mr. Bandmann he ought to be as named of himself. I know Miss Mylford. She was an actress in the Bandmann company. She joined at Calcutta and made her first appearance in Bombay. I do not believe that there was one performance passed in which he did not abuse Miss Mylford shamefully. Miss Mylford left the company in Shanghai because Mr Bandmann abused her so. Mr Bandmann has shaken me repeatedly. Mr Bandmann looked somewhat surprised at this answer; when Mr Frascr Smith said "Now Mr Bandmann, please. Witness was proceeding to say something when Mr Smith said that His Lordship

The occasions on which Mr Bandmann shook me by the arm were not through putting me in my proper place on the stage, but because I Smith: I am an actor and lately a member had done something wrong, spoken my of the Bandmann Combination, which I WE (N. Bandmann Company. I joined Mr Bandmann on the 19th of August 1881 in Dunedin, New Zcaland, and have been in the company since. I remember being at Adelaide, where several actors and actresses joined. I have noticed scenes between Mr Bandmann and Miss Raymond at Calcutta. have heard Mr Bandmann swear at Miss. Raymond. 1 know Mr Ogden. I rememor distinctly Mr Bandmann calling Miss Ferguson (now Mrs Ogden) a series of pithets which cannot be published. I knew Miss Mylford; she first appeared at Bornbay. I have heard Mr Bandmann abuse Miss Mylford at Shanghai. I never saw him strike her or shake her. Miss Mylford has complained to me about the treatment she received. I never saw Mr Bandmann take improper liberties. I remember the night we played "Narcisse" in Hongkong. A young lad was standing on the stage near the property entrance about two yards from the head of the stairs. Mr Bandmann came up and asked him who he was. I did not hear any reply. The boy appeared to be frightened. I then saw Mr Sandmann take him by the shoulder, push nim to the head of the stairs and then push him down, attempting to kick him at the same time, but without success. If he said he kicked him it would be a lie. What fixes it in my memory is that Mr Bandmannelightly overbalanced himself. While pushing the boy downstairs Mr Bandmann said "Take that to your master; he is the siggest blackguard in Hongkong, and I will serve him the same if I get hold of him." Mr Bandmann then turned round to me and laughingly remarked 'That is the way I would like to serve the editor of the Telegraph." About a week afterwards Mr Bandmann and I were conversing, and he remarked to me that "Fraser-Smith was the eather." I do not know whether proceedings had then been taken. By Mr Francis: I am a member of the troupe now. I have two letters in my possession, but I can't say whether or not I am dismissed. I was articled to Mr Bandmann for three months, but that time has expired. I am nineteen years old. Cortain members of the troupe were ordered down to Singapore one went. I was ordered to go, but did not. I received a letter from Mr Bandmann stating that the contract between them was broken. I communicated the facts I have just stated to Mr Fraser Smith yesterday. I have not received a subpoena. W. R. Schmidt : I was an actor in the Bandmann troupe. I am known on the stage as Fred. Russell. I joined Mr Bandmann in Adelaide on the 25th November 1881, and have been with him ever since. Agreement between Mr Bandmann and witness was put in and read.) I held an appointment in the Government Railways in Adelaide, and was induced to leave it by the brilliant promises held out to me, have frequently heard Mr Bandmann use course language towards Miss Raymond. On one occasion between Adelaide and Calcutta he swore very roughly at her while rehearsing in Mr Bandmann's cabin. At the first dress rehearsal at Calcutta he swore at me, and then at Miss Raymond. I remember the rehearsal of Don Casar de Bazan. Mr Bandmann swore at Miss Ferguson because she could not sing a certain song. She went to her hotel, and he followed her. On returning Mr Bandmann swore at Miss Raymond. I don't know on what account, Mr Nunn and Mr Bandmann afterwards had an argument about the matter. I know Miss Mylford. Mr Bandmann treated her most unkindly, by abusing her in the most disgraceful manner. He called her an idiot, a fool and dammed her. I remember us playing "East Lynne" at Shanghai : Miss Mylford played Barbara Hare. On coming off. Mr Bandmann abused her, as she had not pleased. A barber in the employment of Mr Polite was a witness of the scene. Such scenes were of nightly occurrence in Mr stage and went to the hotel, where Mr Bandman's Company. Miss Mylford ran away from the company; the sent her boxes on board, filled with rubbish, paper, old boots, &c. Miss Mylford left the company in consequence of Mr Bandmann's cruelty. Mr Bandmann treated me most unkindly. He swore at me and on one occasion chalthe night when "Naroisse" was played in Hongkong. I spoke to a young Portuguese youth Mr Bandmann came up and asked where the China figure he used in Bandmann coming up the stairs, rubbing his hands and looking very pleased. remarked to him that he was looking pleased. when he said he had just kicked the that he would like to serve his master the same way, at the same time using the word "blackguard." He said if I were not on board by four o'clock he would consider the contract at an end, and if I did not leave the room at once he
